1. Colonel Hysni Dema (former chief of the Albanian Gendarmerie and an anti-Zogist) and Colonel Fikri Dine (Albanian Prime Minister under the Germans) are living at Menidi, a suburb of Athens. They each receive 600,000 drachmas monthly from the Greek Government.
2. Evangelos Kyrkos, a lawyer from Vlone, has his office at 2 Georgiou Stavrou Street in Athens. Source says that Kyrkos is a Greek agent and an opportunist who wished to make Albania a Greek satellite state. In 1924, when Zog came to power in Albania, Kyrkos went to Egypt; he married a Greek woman in Alexandria, and in 1936 moved to Athens. In December 1943 Kyrkos, with the consent of the Greek Aliens' Directorate, visited Vorlaci in Rome.
3. In March 1949, with the assistance of the Greek Aliens' Directorate, Kyrkos brought Gendarmerie Colonel Partelis Papalilios to Greece from Italy; Papalilios is a follower of Ismajl Verlace and served as director of the Tirana City Police from 1939 to 1943, during which time source says he was guilty of many atrocities in Tirana. Source describes Papalilios as an Orthodox Catholic about 60 years of age, and says that he is a Greek agent.
4. Source says that Lumarrem Bajraktari, a Moslem about 60 years of age from the Luma area of Northern Albania, is not a politician nor a collaborationist, and is in good standing with the Frasheri wing of the Balli Kombetar. In September 1946 Bajraktari fought his way into Greece and brought his son Esad, age 16, with him. In a battle with the Yugoslav partisans his other two sons were killed and his brother, Bajram, was wounded and taken prisoner; Bajram was then taken to Belgrade.
